Payments (cash) basis Invoice (accruals) basis Hybrid basis

9. How often does the group want to file GST returns?

(Tick one)

If the group members (including the representative) are all registered for GST on low-value imported goods and/or remote services, the group must have a quarterly filing frequency. Quarterly

For all other groups, if the combined total taxable supplies in any twelve-month period are:

- over $24 million, the group must have a one-monthly filing frequency One-monthly
- under $24 million, the group may choose two-monthly filing frequency Two-monthly
- under $500,000, the group may choose six-monthly filing frequency. Six-monthly

10. Controlling member's information

List the names and IRD numbers of the member(s) or person(s) who control(s) the group.

- the lesser of the common voting or market value interest for a group of companies, or
- the control percentage for a group of persons.

Note: If a controlling member or person does not have an IRD number (such as a non-resident with no income tax obligations in New Zealand) then one does not need to be supplied

Name	%	IRD number

11. List the names and IRD/GST registration numbers of members to be included in the group.

Name	IRD/GST registration number

If you selected a filing frequency at Question 9 that would require a change of filing frequency for any member of the group, or if a change is required due to the combined turnover, we will treat this application as a written request to change the filing frequency. If the group doesn't qualify for the option selected at Question 9, the group will be given:

- a quarterly filing frequency if all members are registered for GST on low-value imported goods and/or remote services, or
- a one-monthly filing frequency if the total taxable supplies exceed $24 million, or
- a two-monthly filing frequency if the total taxable supplies are greater than $500,000 and up to $24 million.
